Obavia

FREE FIELD GUIDE

The 7 objections that end sales calls.

And the question that keeps each one alive, while the buyer is still on the line.

BEFORE YOU START

Objections aren't walls. They're signals.

Most calls aren't lost at the objection. They're lost in the second after it, when the rep answers too fast, defends instead of asks, or freezes.

Each page in this guide gives you the same three things:

- What it usually means: the signal under the words.
- The first question: asked instead of an answer.
- The second layer: the follow-up that tells you what's really in the way.

Read one a day. Use one on your next call. That's the whole system.

Obavia is being built to put these cues on screen live, while the buyer is still talking. Early access opens April 24, 2027.

OBJECTION 1 OF 7

“It's too expensive.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

Price is rarely the real objection. It's a value gap: they can't yet see what the money buys.

ASK FIRST

“Too expensive compared to what you planned, or compared to what you expect to get back?”

THE SECOND LAYER

Which one would make this an easy yes: a smaller start, or clearer proof it pays back?

Rule: Never defend the price first. Find the number they're comparing against.

OBJECTION 2 OF 7

“Send me some information.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

A polite exit. Information doesn't move a deal; a reason to talk again does.

ASK FIRST

“Happy to. So I send the right thing, what would you look for in it?”

THE SECOND LAYER

If that checked out, what would the next step be on your side?

Rule: Agree, narrow, and book the next call before you hang up.

OBJECTION 3 OF 7

“We need to think about it.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

Something is unresolved, and they haven't said what. Thinking alone rarely closes it.

ASK FIRST

“Of course. What part do you want to think through: the fit, the timing, or the cost?”

THE SECOND LAYER

If we cleared that up now, is there anything else in the way?

Rule: Name the categories so they can point instead of confess.

OBJECTION 4 OF 7

“We're already using someone.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

Not a no. It's a comparison. They're telling you who you're up against.

ASK FIRST

“What made you choose them, and what's one thing you'd change?”

THE SECOND LAYER

If that one thing were fixed, would it be worth a look?

Rule: Respect the incumbent. Sell the gap, not the switch.

OBJECTION 5 OF 7

“Now's not a good time.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

Usually about priority, not the calendar.

ASK FIRST

“When you say timing, is it budget cycle, bandwidth, or something on your plate right now?”

THE SECOND LAYER

What would need to happen for this to move up the list?

Rule: Tie the call to a real trigger date, not to “next quarter”.

OBJECTION 6 OF 7

“I need to talk to my boss / partner.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

You're about to be represented by someone who wasn't on the call.

ASK FIRST

“Makes sense. What do you think they'll ask first?”

THE SECOND LAYER

Would it help if we walked them through it together for 15 minutes?

Rule: Arm your champion, or get in the room with the decider.

OBJECTION 7 OF 7

“Just not interested.”

WHAT IT USUALLY MEANS

Often reflex, said before they've heard a reason to care.

ASK FIRST

“Fair. Before I go, is that not interested in improving this, or in how I described it?”

THE SECOND LAYER

What would have to be true for this to be worth 10 minutes?

Rule: One respectful question. If it's still no, leave the door open and leave.

Obavia

WHAT'S NEXT

Your next line, while they're still talking.

Obavia listens to your sales calls live and puts the right question on screen. Not notes after. Help during.

Early access opens April 24, 2027.
You're on the list. Watch your inbox for one objection a day this week.

obavia.co/waitlist · Pricing announced at launch